

To whom it may concern,

I have been passionate about bullying prevention for the past ten years. I have attended many conferences on the subject, reviewed multiple bullying prevention programs and presentations, as well as, coordinated school-wide initiatives in the Olweus Bullying Prevention Method for both elementary and middle school. Based on my background knowledge and after seeing the Omega-Man and Friends presentation, I can honestly say that I give my highest recommendation to this show to support any bullying prevention program you're using.

Marc Wilkes, president of the Omega-Man enterprise and lead presenter captured the student's attention with displays of strength and power. The information he shared is research based, and it is aligned with other sound bullying prevention curricula. An attractive component of the material was the use of kid-friendly, comic book style, characters making it inviting and fun for students of all ages.

The following are a few unsolicited comments made by students, parents and teachers, after viewing the show:

I thought the water and dye illustration was really magical. Courtney Lewis – 1st grade

Amazing.....Marlee Ryan - 5th grade

Spell binding; a powerful message - Jamie Munoz -5th grade

I loved the use of strength and humor to teach us about making good choices. – Kris Ganesh – 5th grade

I thought it was amazing! It was appealing to the kids because of the comic strip characters. Mrs. Ganesh – Parent

My boys just loved Omega-Man, they came home talking nonstop about everything he did on stage. Mrs. Dargis - Parent

Thank you for a WONDERFUL presentation. My kids were spellbound and they're still talking about being dream makers and not dream breakers, good choices, trying again and not giving up, etc. Mrs. Thomas – KG teacher

Bring him back, but make it early in the year so the students can emulate the characteristics promoted in the show all year long. - The leadership team at Cypress Ridge

As you can see from the testimonials, Omega-Man is a very valuable presenter; you should not miss bringing to your school.

Sincerely,
